Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Elementary Designation: In Need of Improvement (Year 2)

Hill Elementary School has been classified as a school which did not demonstrate Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) during the 2007-2008 school year. Classification as not demonstrating AYP is due to the schools not meeting 3 of the No Child Left Behind criteria in the area of English language arts (ELA). In order for a school to demonstrate Adequate Yearly Progress, all NCLB criteria must be met.

Summary of Standards-Based Test Performance

Nevada uses criterion referenced tests (CRTs) to measure student achievement relative to Nevada's academic standards. This table reflects a compilation of test results for grades represented at this school and may not represent the figures that were used to determine this school's Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). Mathematics, Reading, and Writing test results are used to determine AYP. At Charlotte Hill Elementary School, newsletters are sent to parents each month and contain information regarding student achievement and school events. A comment sheet for parent input is included in each newsletter. In addition, teachers prepare and distribute progress reports every two weeks to keep parents informed about students' academic progress and social growth. Each student is given a planner which is used to record daily lesson objectives, list homework assignments, and provide two-way written communication between home and school. Parents participate on school committees and volunteer in classrooms. Parents and community volunteers present lessons on business and economics to students as part of the Junior Achievement program. Several activities are provided throughout the year for parent participation, including Orientation, Open House, Science/Academic Fair, and Parent/Student/Teacher Academic Planning Time (PSTAPT).

Note: District totals do not include state or district sponsored charter school data.
